

Court Asks a Change County Agent Jan. 1

At the meeting of the Commissioners Court last week it was voted "to notify A. & M. College to make a change in the County Agricultural Agent in Randall county to become effective on or before January 1, 1947."

The News did not hear of this move on the part of the Court until after the issue had gone to press last week.

According to the minutes of the court record, the motion was made by Commissioner Heath, seconded by Commissioner Casey. Voting for the motion were Heath and Casey; voting against the motion were Commissioners Beckman and Hill. Judge A. H. Hunt voted in favor of the motion to break the tie.

There were no delegations appearing before the court on this matter. County Agent W. H. Upchurch was out of town when the steps were taken. When he returned Monday he had no statement to make. He stated that he had a full schedule of work planned for the balance of the year which he was going to carry out.

No word has been received from College Station.

Eagles Defeated In First Game; Play Here Friday

Friday the thirteenth brought its bad luck to the Canyon High School Eagles football squad, when they were defeated Friday afternoon in Muleshoe by the Muleshoe eleven. The final score was 20 to 0. Since the game was played on a muddy field, both teams were at a disadvantage; however the Eagles made a lot of yardage and it was a better game than the score indicated. The thirteenth hoax stayed with the Eagles throughout the game as they dropped two or three touchdown passes and made two bad fumbles.

In spite of their first set-back, Coach R. D. Wheelock says the team is shaping up well this year, and the boys played a good game in Muleshoe. Outstanding players were Austell Burrus, Clifford Burtz and Charles Wright.

The second game of the season will be played in Canyon Friday night, September 20, at 8 o'clock, when the Eagles will be matched with the Spearman High School team.

The game will be played at Buffalo Stadium, and admission for students will be the same as last year, 30c. Adult tickets will be 75c.

Sadler, President of Texas Christian University, Mr. Louis Ackers, nationally known Disciples' layman of Abilene, Texas; and Dr. Patrick Henry, secretary of the Texas Christian Missionary Society, and other directors of the Texas Work of the Disciples of Christ.

Twenty-five churches will be represented at the convention and approximately 300 delegates are expected. The host church will serve a luncheon and barbecue complimentary to the delegates of the convention. Mr. E. A. Michael has given a calf which will be killed for the barbecue.

Black Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce

ROLAND S. BLACK

Directors of the Chamber of Commerce have selected Roland S. Black as full time secretary. He started on his duties Monday.

Mr. Black is a Canyon boy and knows local conditions thoroughly. He served for five years in the armed forces and was discharged with the commission of Captain. He has been in Canyon since December, working most of the time at the First National Bank.

Work of the Chamber of Commerce has increased so greatly during the past six months that the directors have been looking for a full time secretary. They were convinced that Mr. Black has the qualifications and local interest in the development of Canyon that he will make an ideal secretary.

Until further arrangements may be made, he will have a desk in the City Hall, where he will look after the work of the organization.

Mr. Black's services will be available for the promotion of all civic enterprises in Canyon, according to directors of the Chamber of Commerce. It will be the first time in about 20 years that a full time secretary has been employed by the city.

Umbarger Road On Program of Highway Group

County Commissioner Clarence Beckman returned Friday from Austin where he attended a meeting of the State Highway Commission at which time the proposed Anton to Umbarger road was discussed. There were representatives from all counties through which the proposed highway will run.

Mr. Beckman stated that the delegation was given a most courteous hearing. The commission had already made its own map of the proposed road, and indicated that it will be a farm-to-market road, with an 18-foot topping. It would be impossible for the commission to designate this road as a state highway at the present time.

The delegation was informed that no action will be taken on the project this year, but after the first of January when allotments of funds are made that this road will be on the program of the commission.

Mr. Beckman feels confident that the commission will get to work on the road during 1947.

Program of PTA For Coming Year Was Selected

"Building Firm Foundations" is the theme adopted by the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, of which Canyon P. T. A. is a local unit. At an executive meeting held last Thursday evening in the home of the president, Mrs. J. D. Barker, the Association voted to endorse this theme by securing the cooperation of parents, teachers, and other adult citizens in all that concerns the education and welfare of children and youth. A Study Club under the leadership of Mrs. Robert Jones will be conducted each second Thursday at 1:30 o'clock in the Grade School office and each patron is invited to attend.

The objects of the Parent-Teachers Associations are, to promote the welfare of children and youth in home, school, church, and community; to raise the standards of home life; to secure adequate laws for the care and protection of children and youth; and to bring into closer relation the home and the school that parents and teachers may cooperate intelligently in the training of the child.

Umbarger School Is Only Rural School Running in County

Judge A. H. Hunt, ex-officio county school superintendent, states that the Umbarger school is the only common school in Randall county which is operating this year.

There are 20 common school districts in Randall county. Two of the districts are transporting children to the Happy school; two to Amarillo; and two dividing between Amarillo and Canyon because of lack of transportation to bring all children to Canyon. In 13 districts all of the children are coming to Canyon. When roads are surfaced to provide all weather hard surface it is expected that schools now sending to Amarillo will come to Canyon. Hard surface roads and bus transportation for children go hand in hand.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Hodges visited last week in Tulsa in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Starks.

Four Cars Are Wrecked in Two Highway Crashes

Four cars were pulled into Canyon this week badly wrecked as the result of accidents on the highway.

Friday morning a car driven by Mexicans from Clovis was stalled on the highway north of town. A car driven by a man from Plainview plowed into the rear of the New Mexico car. Three women were injured in the crash. After treatment at the Neblett Hospital they were taken on to their homes.

Monday morning a car with a single driver ran off the pavement where construction is underway north of town. In trying to right his car, he crashed across the highway into a car which was stopped as it saw the impending danger. No one was hurt.

All four cars in these accidents were badly damaged.

Morris Named To Head Last Drive of USO

Milton Morris will head the next and final USO Campaign in Randall County, Governor Coke R. Stevenson, General Chairman, announced today.

Stevenson said, "We feel particularly fortunate to enlist Mr. Morris in this final USO drive for funds. Our state quota of $800,000 will be reached with similar top leadership in all of Texas' 254 counties."

Carl L. Phinney, State Campaign Chairman, in a letter to Mr. Morris said, "The final USO drive is an important undertaking. Having had the honor of serving 18 months with the 36th Division in the Italian theater, I learned first hand what USO means to the boys overseas. I also have known of the billion acts of kindness to our millions of men in this country. Continuation of these morale services is, if anything, more important than ever. The combat phase of the war is finished but the transition period presents fully as many morale problems. The life of the men in the service is not glamorous. They need and deserve the "home away from home" that USO Clubs and USO Camp shows give them. USO in 1947 will concentrate its services for those who are still hospitalized, those overseas, and our kid brothers now in training. I want to join Governor Stevenson in expressing appreciation to Mr. Morris for accepting the Chairmanship of Randall County. We are confident that under his leadership Randall County will meet its obligations to those men still in service."

Laymen Urge All Citizens Pray for Peace Conference

A national movement of laymen of all churches urges that all Americans who believe in the power of prayer to devote much time in praying for the Peace Conference which is in session in Paris.

Mr. and Mrs. James Hodges and sons, Jimmie and Bobby, spent the week-end in Spearman, visiting Mrs. Hodges' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hoskins.

Bufs Open at Lubbock With Tech Saturday

There is little rationing of practice sessions around Buffalo Stadium this week as Head Coach W. W. (Windy) Nicklaus and Line Coach Leslie Van Meter groom their charges for the season opener in Lubbock Saturday night against potent Texas Tech.

Grimly determined to field the best eleven possible against Tech, Nicklaus is still undecided as to who will get the starting nod Saturday night. A re-shuffling of his varied combinations makes starting assignments impossible to designate now. The question marks hanging over several line and backfield positions will probably not be erased until game time Saturday night.

Line boss Van Meter has a surplus amount of beef in his forward wall. His line squad of 31 men weighs a total of 5,975 pounds for an average of 193 pounds per man. Ten ends weigh 1,881 pounds for an average of 188 pounds per man. Eight tackles weigh 1,655 pounds for an average of 207 pounds per man. Nine guards tip the scales at 1,684 pounds for an average of 187 pounds per man. Four centers weigh 755 pounds for an average weight of 189 pounds.

Sixteen backfield men weigh 2,862 pounds to give an average weight of 179 pounds per man. It is possible for Nicklaus and Van Meter to start a line averaging 212 pounds per man. Without sacrificing too much talent for weight Nicklaus could start a backfield against Tech averaging 185 pounds per man.

Republican In Active Fight For Congressman

Frank T. O'Brien, candidate for Congress on the Republican ticket, was here Tuesday starting an active campaign for election in the November election. O'Brien, 42, recently returned from 35 months overseas in the Pacific theatre.

Mr. O'Brien issued the following statement:

At the November general elections the people will have a chance to crush the new deal communistic control of Congress. A year ago we had won the greatest victory in history yet today the new dealers are frittering it away, and in their efforts to bring liberty to the Balkans they are losing it for us at home. Despite a staggering national debt of more than 250 billions of dollars, we are now planning to loan money to all comers. At the same time production is being throttled by the OPA while the black market flourishes. There must be a change in the party control of Congress this year. The re-election of conservative democrats will not do, because the organization of the House of Representatives will then remain the same—in the grasp of the big city machines and new deal communists. All citizens who want to preserve the American way of life should vote in the November election and should vote for a change in Congress.

General Rain Missed Canyon

While other parts of the Panhandle were receiving heavy rains over the week-end, Canyon, and a greater part of Randall County, received only 1.9 of an inch.

Moisture recorded here was only 1.6 Thursday, while two to four inches fell over a great part of the North and South Plains. Again on Friday morning we had received only .03 of an inch.

Only the North part of the county received a considerable amount of rain. Showers in other sections brought more rain than fell in Canyon.

Editorials

Frankly we are worried about conditions in America today. We are more worried about the printing and publishing business than any other line, because we love the business after 41 years messing with printers' ink. But we have about reached the conclusion that to be in the management end these days is playing with dynamite. As in all professions and industries, the printing business is largely controlled through the unions. The Typographical Union, of which we used to be a member, was always looked upon as one of the fairest unions in the nation, and free from Communist ideas. It has changed today. There have been more strikes in newspaper plants the past year than in the past quarter of a century. Newspaper writers have been unionized through the Guild. Today management has no control over the production end of the business. The union sets its prices, and management must toe the mark—or else. Printers have never been paid the highest wages in the land, but are above the average. Printing, as a product, has always been considered one of the most reasonably priced commodities in the nation, due to fair labor prices, fair material prices, and the fact that it is not an exclusive industry, but is open to keen competition. As a result, prices have been kept in line, both printing and newspaper advertising. The most alarming developments have taken place in the last week. The unions in Chicago and Washington, D. C. have filed new demands. They want $3 per hour for 35 hours per week; guaranteed 5 hours per week overtime; and three weeks paid vacation, and one week of sick leave, or a total of four weeks per year. Of course the printers will not receive such a high wage, which would set a new high in the nation—even surpassing that paid bricklayers, which is a very reasonable profession, and subject to many layoffs. Furthermore, the printers' union is forcing country plants to train all of the printers, as apprentices cannot get a chance in the city shops. All of this adds up to the fact that business men in the future are going to be forced to pay much higher prices for all kinds of printing and advertising, until the bottom falls out and we go back to WPA days.

Where are we going to wind up in this spiral of rising prices and rising costs of operation? If the government kicks the lid off of wages in order to meet maritime demands, then CIO auto workers are going after another big increase. Wages will increase; prices will increase, which will cause another demand for wage increases; and will lead to another boost in prices, which in itself will boost wages again. When the war started Roosevelt was advised that the only way to hold prices in line was to put a ceiling on labor, the same as on material. Today materials are out of control, in the hands of black market. Labor is out of control, with demands for more and more pay. Some of this probably is justified, and some entirely unjustified. One of these days the crash will come, and 1939 will look like a Sunday School party as compared with the results of the impending crash. The situation is entirely out of hand. The present trouble may be traced largely to millionaires who were "made" during the war. Since a small percent of business men made excessive profits because of the war, labor racketeers are of the opinion that all business has been robbing the public and making money hand over fist. Honest business firms are being penalized, and white collared workers are suffering because lines outside the realm of war contracts cannot increase prices to meet the bid demand of spiral prices.

The American people have often wondered why people hesitate to go to jury service. At best, it is a disagreeable job, and one that all men regret having to do. But we have decided that the average performance of district courts has largely brought this repulsive feeling toward jury service. A man is drawn for jury service; he has to sit for hours listening to wrangling among lawyers; and he must be a pawn at the whim of judges and jury alike as a matter of delay, bickerings and needless arguments. In the meanwhile, his mind wanders back to his business or profession.

and he is worried as to how things are getting along in his absence. Federal courts are not like this. We saw the other day where it took only two hours to select a jury and try a criminal in federal court. Of course federal judges are not bound down by a lot of useless red tape, and conflicting decisions of higher courts. The praise given our federal court system is almost like praising dictatorship, since the judge does not have to bow to the whims of the voters in order to stay in office. Well-seasoned lawyers feel the need for court reforms, and a simpler and more direct way of trying cases. But this will not come about until men with a better understanding of the situation, and with no axe to grind start writing the laws and formulating court rules.

Henry Wallace, fairhaired child of CIO, comes out with the declaration that we should cater to the Russian Reds and give them full sway in their sphere. The trouble is that the Russian sphere is not defined. Russia continues trying to take in more territory. Wallace's statement runs counter with everything that Secretary Byrnes has been trying to do at the peace table. The Wallace statement upsets the State Department. President Truman indicated that he knew what Wallace was going to say. If this is true, then again America has no foreign policy. We will continue to drift along the lines of appeasement, just as England did until she was against a brick wall. We did the same thing during the Roosevelt administration. The world should know by this time that dictators cannot be appeased. The only language they understand is superior force.

T. A. Landers of the McLean News says: The present Democratic party is a mongrel organization, with a lot of crackpot politicians trying to change the "American way of life." There is hope that a general clean-up of the party may be brewing in the South. More and more signs point to the fact that voting the Democratic ticket and getting something else than democratic principles does not pay. It is up to the voters to change the situation and see that those fellows who take their political ideas from the old countries from which they escaped are not allowed to graft their ideas here. We have the best system yet devised and why change for out-moded systems that have failed wherever tried?

We see that Phi Beta Kappa has taken a swing at the University of Texas. It has decreed that it is going to withdraw its chapter from the University unless the University is run to suit it in the future. Governor Coke Stevenson hit back at the honor fraternity as another outside influence which was trying to run Texas. These agitators are advocating FEPC, abolishing the poll tax, and equal social standing between the whites and blacks. No doubt this latest move is a last minute protest against the Texas voters for having defeated the candidate of socialist tendencies, Homer P. Rainey.

Friends of Governor Coke Stevenson want him to run for Senator in 1948 against Pappy O'Daniel. We have long been of the opinion that a good man could beat Pappy in 1948, but one of the rabid left-wingers, like Jimmie Allred, cannot do the trick. The people of Texas are not going to be stampeded, as was shown by the supreme efforts of CIO to elect Homer Rainey as governor. However, Coke says it is too early to talk about 1948. And he is right.

OUR DEMOCRACY—by Mat

MONEY MAGIC

ON EVERY STREET THERE'S A FAMILY WHOSE INCOME IS NO GREATER THAN THE NEIGHBORS'—BUT WHO SEEM TO HAVE MORE, GET MORE OUT OF LIFE.

THESE FAMILIES PROVE THAT IT'S NOT HOW MUCH MONEY YOU HAVE BUT HOW YOU USE IT THAT COUNTS. BY PLANNING AHEAD FOR MAJOR COMMITMENTS, SUCH AS LIFE INSURANCE, MORTGAGE PAYMENTS OR RENT, BY SETTING SOMETHING ASIDE FOR EMERGENCIES AND BY PUTTING "CEILINGS" ON THE EVERYDAY EXPENSES, WE NOT ONLY MAKE ENDS MEET—BUT BUILD UP RESERVES FOR THE FUTURE.

William C. Bullitt has written a book in which he declares that Russian Communism will never cease trying to conquer the world. If that is true, we are wasting a lot of valuable time in trying to make peace with the Communists of Russia. We are told that Russia is using the German war plants to make war materials, while they build up their industries at home. We are further told that the carrier, Franklin D. Roosevelt, has a good supply of atomic bombs aboard, ready for action. No wonder there is open speculation in this nation and that World War III is only a matter of months away.

When we read of the struggle that various communities are now having trying to build adequate assembly places for war veterans, we are very thankful to the boys of World War I for having built the Legion Hall. All war organizations should use this property, and assist in making it a real meeting place for all veterans. A lot of different organizations grow out of every war; some good, some poor. The poor ones are usually the brain child of some group which wants to run things, and have an appeal of prejudice, rather than cold, hard facts.

We like the manner in which Governor-elect Beauford Jester is going down the middle of the road. He is not going to be pulled off his path either to the extreme right or the extreme left. As a result both extremists are getting sore at him, but his policy will pay off, just like it paid off in the case of Governor Coke Stevenson.

For many years AFPL has stayed out of politics. Seeing the success of CIO, the competitive union may decide to jump in. Wonder just how long it is going to be before the golden goose of high prices is killed under our great Democracy?

While other sections of the Panhandle were receiving big downpours of rain, Canyon received only a mere sprinkle. What's the matter with the people of Canyon that we cannot get rain? Who's going to blame who for this delinquency of moisture? Hope everyone does not decide that it is the fault of the Newsman.

RETAILERS AND THE BLACK MARKET

The head of a large retail trade association recently wrote Paul Porter, OPA administrator, pledging unqualified cooperation in controlling prices. One sentence in the letter said: "Now that the Congress has spoken, the job of all of us is to join in carrying out the law."

That has been the attitude of the vast majority of established retailers since price control began. A great many of these retailers differ with provisions of the law and policies laid down by OPA. But, once the law goes on the books, they do everything possible to make it work. However the people do not take OPA seriously.

All the talk about black markets has tended to cast an unjustified shadow over the retail industry. It is true that an enormous volume of goods moved through black market channels—and will continue to do so move until supply catches up with demand. It is also true that a very small percentage of established retail stores were ever involved in the black market tie-up. The majority of these stores sold what goods they had at legal prices—and when they couldn't get new supplies they found substitutes or left their shelves bare.

The fine record made by retailing, now and in the past, must not be obscured by the unsavory activities of the few racketeers. Your typical store isn't out to exploit the consumer.

Norris Root has left on a trip to visit relatives in Kansas and Colorado for a few weeks.

During prohibition days it was the "smart" thing to have your bootlegger. Men bragged about it. Today they brag about their private black market. For how long? Probably as long as OPA exists.

We never used to be able to find grandma's glasses, but now she leaves them just where she empties them.

A slightly off-center private in an army chapel was seen to bow his head every time the name of Satan was mentioned. Finally the Chaplain's curiosity got the best of him and he asked the doggie to explain. "Well," was the reply, "politeness costs nothing and, after all, we nexer know."

Miss Iris Dooley and Toney Brown Are Married at the Baptist Church

Nuptial vows were exchanged by Iris Dooley, daughter of Mrs. Milton Dooley and the late Milton Dooley of Canyon, and Toney Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Brown, of Tulla.

Dr. Roy L. Johnson, minister, read the double-ring service in the First Baptist Church of Canyon, Sunday, September 8, at 2 o'clock p. m. Mr. Bob Kilgore sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly" accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Kilgore. While the guests arrived, Mrs. Kilgore played "Till the End of Time" and "Always." The traditional wedding march was played as the bride entered with her brother-in-law, Mr. Robert C. Robins, who gave her in marriage.

Gladioli, baby's breath and lighted tapers banked the archway to form an improvised altar. The tapers were lighted by Mary Jane Brown, sister of the groom, and Ava Dooley, sister of the bride.

For her wedding, the bride chose a street length dress of white wool chiffon, accented by a gold mesh belt. Her accessories were black. For something old, she wore a gold bracelet belonging to her mother, for something new a gold pin, and for something borrowed she carried a white Bible belonging to her sister. For something blue, she carried a blue marker in her Bible. Her corsage was of roses, stephanotis, and baby's breath.

Mrs. Robert C. Robins, sister of the bride, attended as matron of honor. Darlene Heizer, Annie Jo Hill, and Georgia May Reeves were bridesmaids. They all wore pastel suits and white gardenia corsages.

Mrs. Dooley, mother of the bride, wore a forest green crepe dress and a corsage of gladioli. Mrs. Brown chose a black dress and a corsage of gladioli.

Bill Heizer was best man and Rex, Eugene, and Dale Brown, brothers of the groom, served as ushers.

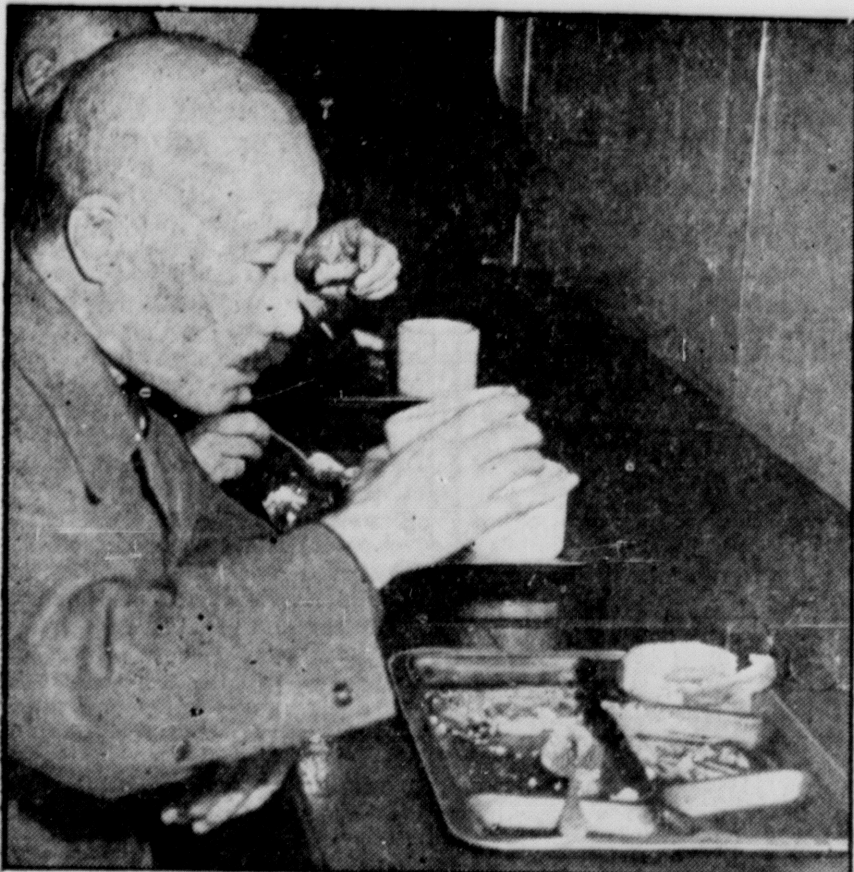

Following the ceremony, the bridal party was feted at a reception in the home of the bride's mother. The attractive lace covered serving table was centered by a three-tiered wedding cake which was served by Mrs. Eugene Brown. The punch was served by Mrs. Brown, mother of the groom.

After the reception, the couple left for a wedding trip through New Mexico and Colorado.

Mrs. Brown graduated from Canyon High School and was employed by the Veterans Administration in Excelsior Springs, Mo., prior to her return to college.

Mr. Brown graduated from Tulla

Maybe He's Thinking of Pearl Harbor

Jap war Premier Hideki Tojo "digs in" at lunch time during his trial before the Far East International Military Tribunal in Tokyo. The meal, vastly more plentiful than war prisoners of Japan got, includes beef pot pie, mashed potatoes, buttered (buttered, that is) peas, bread and butter (butter, that is), and black coffee. From the looks of Tojo's leavings, he does not care for crusts.

High School and was recently discharged from the U. S. Navy.

The couple will continue their studies at West Texas State College upon returning from their trip.

Dorothy Heath Becomes Bride of Luther Lawless

White tapers in crystal candelabra lighted the altar banked with white gladioli and palms when Miss Dorothy Heath, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Heath of Canyon, and Luther B. Lawless, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Lawless of Marshall were married in Seventh and James St. Baptist Church, Waco, on August 25th.

While the guests assembled and Miss Frances Oldfield of Waco lighted the tapers, Mrs. Annie Lee, organist, played "O Promise Me." "Traumeri" formed a musical accompaniment for the exchange of vows and the traditional wedding marches were used for the "processional and recessional. The Rev. Woodson Armes, pastor, read the double ring ceremony.

The bride's only attendant was Miss Bernice Kimble of Dallas. Miss Kimble was attired in a suit of aqua gabardine with black accessories and wore a corsage of picardy gladioli. George Guinn of Waco served as Mr. Lawless' best man.

The bride wore a white smoke tailored suit with ice blue accessories. Her corsage was a single white orchid.

Following the ceremony a reception was given at the home of Dr. and Mrs. M. L. Ferguson of Waco. The bride's table was centered with an arrangement of pink rosebuds and fern. The tiered wedding cake, topped by a miniature bride and groom was served by Mrs. W. H. Brian of Amarillo, sister of the bride. Mrs. John Sims of Phillips, also a sister of the bride, presided at the silver coffee service. Assisting in the house party were Miss Gladys Ferguson and Miss Mildred Tietz, both of Waco.

After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Lawless left on a wedding trip to San Antonio and other South Texas cities.

Airport Ready To Go Coming School Year

Did you know that West Texas State College here in Canyon was the first school in the State of Texas that offered flying as a regular part of its curriculum? And there are a great many other air facts and air news going on around Canyon in which we think you'll be interested. Thus, the purpose of this column every week—to keep you posted on what is going on in aviation circles in and around Canyon.

George Cox is getting everything set up out at the airport for the beginning of school, and hopes that full approval will be received by October 1 for the flying school under the GI Bill. When it does come through, there will be facilities ready for all veterans who want to get Private and Commercial licenses and instructor's ratings. Canyon Aviation Service will use all 1946 model planes for training purposes. There are three new Aeronaucas now, besides the new Bellanca. Claude Goldsmith and Hilton Lindsey are at the airport now as full time instructors, and both these fellows have a long-time background of experience in flying. Mr. Goldsmith is a former Army instructor and instructed in both primary and advanced schools. Mr. Lindsey was an Army pilot and is certificated as instructor in all ground school subjects and instruments.

Plans are now, to use the field just north of the college—the future airport site—when school starts. The instructors will fly the planes down from the airport every day, and fly the students off the field at the college. This will eliminate the transportation problem for the students. And with the ground school classes being held at the college at night, the main part of the flying this winter will center right around the college.

Now that Fall is just about here, we're having to watch out for bad weather, and the pilots in this part of our country know that Old Man weather can close in on you pretty fast sometimes. Mr. Cox can verify this only too well, after his little experience last week. He was on his way to Big Spring in the Bellanca and left early Friday morning. Although it was pretty well closed in down south, the weather station in Amarillo said it would clear up before he reached his destination. Well, in forty minutes he was over Lubbock, and it looked like the weather office made a mistake, so he wisely decided to set down at Lubbock. However, before he knew it the weather had closed in right under him, and Lubbock was no where to be seen. He figured the best thing to do was to turn around and get on a heading of North, and he was bound to end up somewhere in the vicinity of Canyon.

Since he was between two layers of clouds there was nothing to do but hold his course and hope that a hole opened up somewhere in the clouds. After three hours and ten minutes of this, George Cox was plenty glad to find an opening in those clouds and come down through and land. He found himself at Gruver, and landed at the airport there, gassed up and flew back to good ole home sweet home! And he was pretty glad to be home. Congratulations are in order to Mr. Cox for showing the good judgment that he did and staying right up there until a space opened up thru which he could see! He didn't realize until he got on the ground here, that it was Friday the 13th, but that was his lucky day!

Washington Newsletter

By Congressman Gene Worley

Peiping, like many other Chinese cities, is surrounded by a high wall of tremendous thickness and all entrances to the city are guarded. The Communist Army was very active in that area and the Nationalist forces were taking no chances of a surprise attack. The type of Chinese in the north seemed to be different from those in the south. The northern Chinese are larger in size and seem to be more versatile. Weather in the northern part is often severe in winter while it is generally temperate farther south.

Again came conferences with our American representatives and about daylight a day later, we were leaving for Tokyo 1400 miles to the east. We had been "advised" at Peiping not to fly closer than twelve miles over Port Arthur, which is a heavily fortified Russian base in lower Manchuria. You will probably recall that a number of our Navy planes had been shot at or shot down by the Russians when they came any closer than the twelve mile limit. Having no desire to either be shot at or shot down, we skirted Port Arthur from 12 to 15 miles but our binoculars helped us to see the port and facilities reasonably well. It seems more than strange that our former allies, the Russians, would adopt such an attitude, particularly when we allow them full permission to fly in or over our own installations either in Europe or the Far East or the U. S. We have nothing to hide but apparently they have.

We made an unscheduled landing at Seoul in Korea and spent a short time there with our own occupation forces. As usual, I inquired if there were any Texans about and of course found Texas well represented. One member of the Committee was from a small Middle-Western state but, much to his own dismay, he seldom found a home state boy.

In Korea our forces occupied the southern half with the Russian forces in the northern half. The Russians put our forces on notice they were not to come north of 38 degrees, a boundary which is the dividing line of the occupation forces. While the Commanding Officer informed us there had been no recent conflicts between the two forces, we were given to understand that the entrance of any of our people into the Russian Zone would be most vigorously opposed. It is important to point out that the USSR has an occupation force of better than two hundred thousand soldiers, plus a strong air force, in their Zone compared to the hand-ful we have in the American Zone.

Leaving Korea, our next scheduled point was Nagasaki on the southwestern tip of the Japanese chain of islands. We had hoped to see where one of the two atomic bombs was dropped. However, the weather was very bad over Nagasaki so we turned north to Hiroshima and saw where one single atomic bomb had killed at least sixty thousand people. Save for a few concrete and steel buildings, absolutely nothing was left of Hiroshima in the area where the bomb hit. I have seen the shambles left in several of the big German cities but the destruction there was not as complete as the destruction of Hiroshima. In addition, the German cities were destroyed by thousands upon thousands of block-busting bombs and incendiaries whereas Hiroshima felt the force of only one bomb. It should of course be borne in mind that the construction in Japan is entirely different from the modern German towns but one important thing to remember is that the concussion from the bomb itself and the radio-active properties destroyed sixty thousand lives. Just compare this with the population of Amarillo, for example, and then wonder what sort of defense we could use against an enemy attacking with atomic bombs.

Next Week: Tokyo.

Flying Pancake Is Unveiled by Navy

Latest Plane Will Be Able To Stand Still in Air.

WASHINGTON. — An experimental fighter plane, shaped like a pancake but expected to be able to hover at a standstill or skim along at speeds up to 550 miles an hour, was disclosed by the U. S. navy.

The plane is unlike anything disclosed anywhere else in the world. Known privately as the "Skimmer," its official designation is XF5U-1. It was built by Chance Vought Aircraft at Bridgeport, Conn., and while the present model will not fly before Labor day, the design already has been tested with a full-scale flying model.

The model, known as V-173 or the "Bug," has two 75-horsepower engines and is built of fabric and wood. Tests have shown, the navy said, that the original design is "usable and practical."

The navy withheld dimensions and performance of the "Skimmer" other than to say that it is expected to have a speed range of 40 to 423 miles an hour with the present 1,400 horsepower engines.

This would be extended to 20 to 460 miles an hour by using water injection for emergency power, and to zero (or hovering at a standstill) to 550 miles an hour by using gas turbines when they become available.

The combination of extreme low and high speeds is a radical departure from the normal trend. The high speed potential apparently results from the clean design, while the low speed presumably is made possible by flaps which can be used in combination with high power.

The theory is not new but it had not previously been developed so that hovering appeared possible in a fixed-wing airplane. Helicopters hover by rotating blades at high speed.

Treat Skin Cancers With Atom Product

SAN FRANCISCO.—Successful treatment of two types of skin cancer with atomic research by-products was reported by Dr. Bertram Low-Beer, University of California radiologist, to the North American Radium society.

This presumably is the first practical medical application of radio elements such as will come from atomic ovens. The substance is radiofosforus.

While the substance used by Dr. Low-Beer was made in the cyclotron, it can be made in relatively large quantities in the ovens which now turn out plutonium for atom bombs.

Dr. Low-Beer reported 100 per cent success in the treatment of 36 cases of hyperkeratosis, and 98 per cent in 52 cases of basal cell carcinoma. Dr. Low-Beer did not claim that the radiofosforus treatment was any better than the other methods but said it was much simpler.

Parisian Says Pair Left Babies She Bore Him

HOLLYWOOD.—A wealthy couple who could have no children set her up in their home while she bore two children by the husband, Mrs. Ferida Hayat, 36, Parisian playwright, charged.

She filed suit for support of the son and daughter she said she bore for Maurice Albuquerque, 40, who owns jewelry stores here and in Paris, and his wife Cecilia, 48. The suit named Albuquerque as the father.

Mrs. Hayat, a native of Tunisia, said she met Albuquerque in Lisbon, after she fled the Nazis in Paris and came here with him.

Then, she said, he introduced her to his wife, moved her into their Santa Monica home and persuaded her to give them a family.

After the second baby was born, she said, the Albuquerque went to a new home, deserting her and the children, Fred Jean Jacques, four, and Cecilia Raquelita Allen, six months.

She asked $5,000 expenses and $300 a month support for each.

Young Angler Proves He's an Outdoor Man

MOUNT VERNON, WASH. — Keepers of the city jail learned recently to keep their keys out of casting reach when they have a fisherman in the calaboose.

The jailers found an empty cell and discarded fishing pole.

Hosiery Picture Better As Shipments Show Gain

NEW YORK. — Though a run in milady's nylons still is a major domestic tragedy, the hosiery picture is brightening considerably. According to reports, hosiery shipments in April were 12,642,578 pairs, as compared to 11,281,067 in April last year, or a rise of 12.1 per cent. Shipments the first four months this year came to almost 50 million pairs against 47.5 million pairs in 1945.

Law of the Tribe

By BURTON FORRESTER

McClure Newspaper Syndicate. WNU Features.

THE Kid's feet twitched in their number six boots when he saw what was going on in the Indian camp. It was hot there in the brush along the creek, and the flies buzzed and bit. There was no perceptible breeze in the still, hot air, but the leaves on the aspens quivered. The Kid didn't notice them, however; or the heat, or the flies. He was staring with horrified eyes at the scene before him; the circle of wigwams, the fat pinto ponies grazing and switching their tails lazily in the shade, the group of silent bucks gathered before the ornate tent of the chief.

The Kid stopped his scared panting in the middle of a breath; it seemed that the Indians fifty yards away must hear him. It didn't seem possible such a thing could be taking place in this, the twentieth century, but there it was. The chief was speaking. The Kid strained ears to hear.

"You cheatum in rock game, at sundown you lose scalp. So are the laws of my tribe."

Old Barrister, Barrie as the Kid had known him, his white shock of hair exposed to the heat of the sinking sun, was held by two brawny bucks. Old Barrie, who had been the Kid's boon companion in the few months since he had come from the East, "green as grass and not dry behind the ears," as the boys said, had been his constant teacher and guide in the strange ways and trails of the West.

The Kid cursed silently because the boys wouldn't let him carry a six-shooter. Maybe they'd let him now, he thought savagely as he crawled as quietly as possible back to his horse. If he had a gun there was a long chance he could save Old Barrie's scalp, but now all he could do was ride for help.

Old Crowbait stood with lowered head, too lazy even to switch at the flies. The Kid made the saddle in one leap and thumped the fat ribs with his heels. He couldn't spur desperately, as the books said, because he hadn't even been promoted to wearing spurs. Maybe they'd admit he was a man now.

Startled, old Crowbait raised his head and gradually achieved a stiff-legged gallop. The Kid tried to remember what the cowboys would have said on such an occasion.

The sun was just touching the western rim of the desert as old Crowbait staggered up to the bunk house where the boys were lounging and rolling before-supper cigarettes.

"Quick! Old Barrie's losing his scalp!" the Kid shouted.

Curly ran his tongue along the edge of the neat cylinder and looked up at the Kid. "Is that old reprobate in another poker game? If yuh ask me, it's the guys fool enough to play with him who'd better be hangin' on to their scalps."

Hot tears of anger stung the Kid's eyes. "You darned fool, I mean it! He cheated the Indians in a rock game and the chief said they'd scalp him at sundown!"

The completed cigarette fell from Curly's numbed fingers. "By gosh, that's right! They catch yuh cheatin' at that and they'll scalp yuh sure!"

"But," the Kid almost sobbed, "he's played with them lots and they know they have to watch him. They won't really kill him for that, will they?"

Curly fished for a match automatically to light the cigarette he had unknowingly dropped. "I dunno. They're sticklers for tradition, and they'll take his scalp. It's just too bad if he happens to die because of it."

"Aw, I dunno," Doubtful Dan put in. "That old lawyer could talk his way out of anything!" But he was by no means the last in the rush for horses.

The dusk was deepening swiftly when they swept into camp. No one was in sight except the old chief, squatting before his tent, from which issued excited voices.

Curly hit the ground running and shoved his gun under the chief's nose. "Where's Barrie?" he demanded with a sort of icy calm.

The Kid's horrified eyes rested on something dangling from the pole above the chief's head. A something that swayed gently in the night breeze. Nausea almost claimed him as the realization came that this had been Old Barrie's scalp.

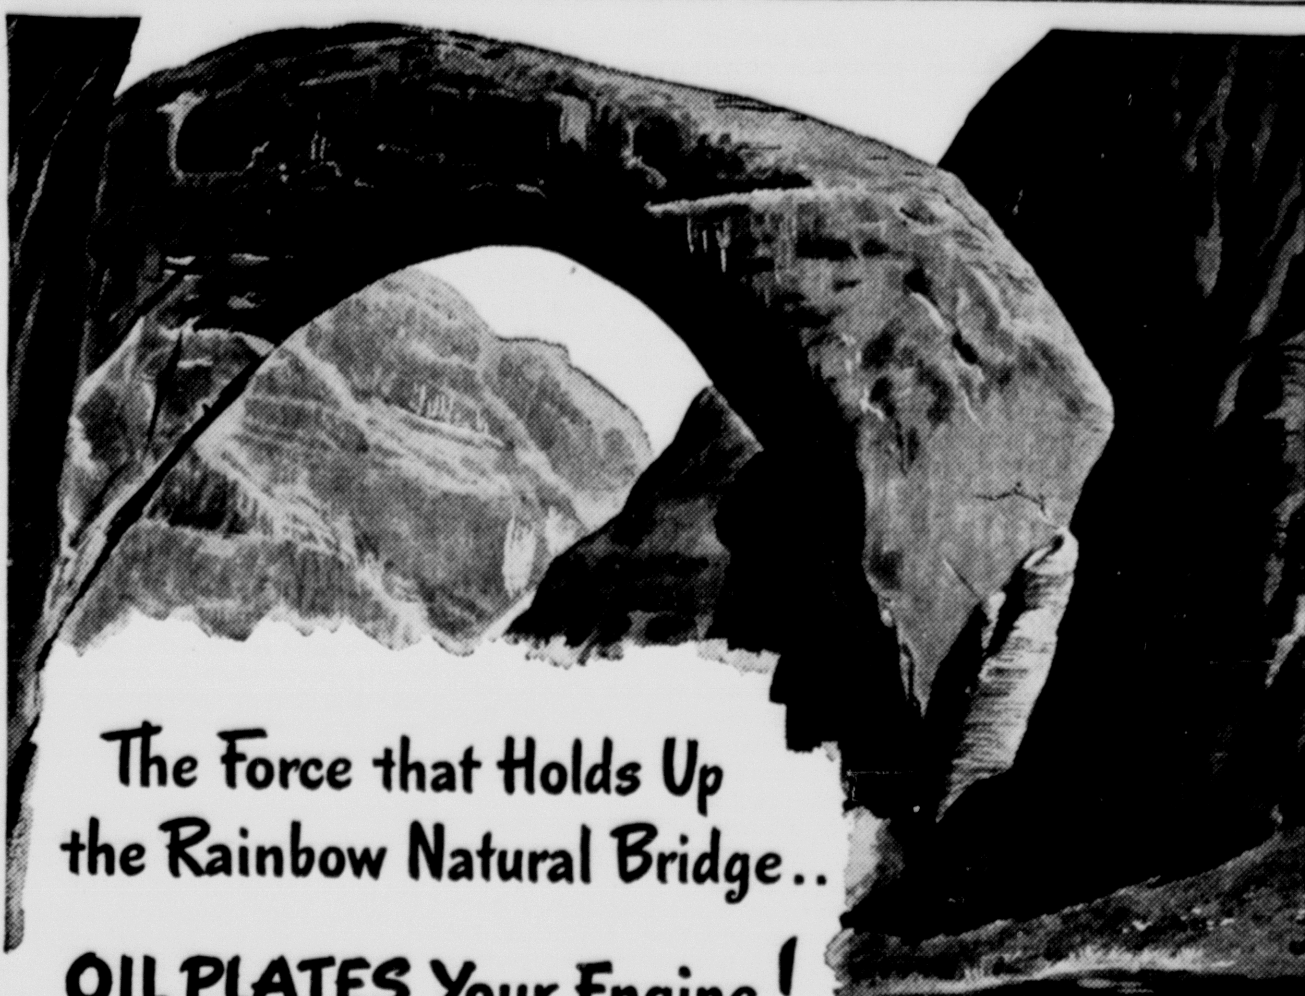

The chief's leathery face was inscrutable as he jerked a thumb over his shoulder toward the interior of the big wigwam and answered, "In there."

A dozen guns in the hands of the cowboys covered the chief as Curly jerked aside the flap and looked. Looked and then doubled up in silent mirth.

Without thought of danger the Kid leaped from the saddle and tore open the flap. A rock game was in progress, the Indians attempting to guess who, in the double line, held the tiny pebble in closed hands. At the far end sat Old Barrie, but gone was his imposing shock of white hair. Old Barrie was as bald as a boulder.

Seeing the Kid, he looked up and growled, "The ring-tailed red-headed sons uh bucks took my wig, but I'm shore gettin' their scalps. Did yuh have tuh be so all-fired prompt with yer rescue party?"

The Force that Holds Up the Rainbow Natural Bridge..

OIL PLATES Your Engine!

ONE of America's wonders is the tremendous Rainbow Natural Bridge in Utah. Weighing millions of tons, it's held up by the mighty forces of attraction that exist between molecules of stone.

By ceaseless study of the molecular attraction between liquids and solids, Conoco engineers are able to bring motorists new and better oils. For example, under laws of molecular attraction, a special ingredient in Conoco Nth motor oil is attracted to working surfaces of your engine. So strong is this attraction that cylinder walls and other parts are OIL-PLATED.

Because molecular attraction holds Conoco OIL-PLATING up where it belongs

CHOICE OF JOB

A farmer was trucking a load of livestock to the market and had a blowout just as he was passing the state insane asylum grounds. As he repaired the tire two inmates watched him from the other side of the road fence.

"Are you a farmer?" one called to him.

The farmer replied that he was, without looking up from his work.

"Have you ever been crazy?" asked the second inmate.

At that the farmer turned around to face his questioner. "Not that I know of," said he.

"Well," and the second inmate nudged the first, "you better try it, 'cause it's a sight easier than farmin'."

Youth Needs the Personal Interest of All Citizens

Lyle Bonner, minister of the Church of Christ, spoke at the Rotary Club luncheon Tuesday on the youth problem. His conclusion was that individual attention to youth is worth 10 times as much as institutional attention.

Every generation thinks that its youth is the worst. This depends altogether upon the interpretation of the problem. We like to blame modern conditions, the movies, trashy books, and other modern instruments. Mr. Bonner believes that the attitude and actions of people, all people, is the greatest influence. He spoke from his experience as a youth in a large city, where he was a newsboy.

In the home, the parents exaggerate, and the children take up the habit. In business, the boss puts up a good front to the customers, but the employees know it is hypocrisy. We like to blame the home and the church and the school, but we fail to help these agencies.

The speaker said as a boy he was a golf caddy. One player tipped liberally, but another never tipped. The boys liked to caddy for the man who never tipped because he always had an interest in the boys, talked with them, and knew them when they met on the street. Such individual treatment is better than institutional treatment. Boys crave the attention of men, and they resent coddling.

Mr. Conner advised the men of Canyon to be sincere with the boys. Deserve the respect of the boys and not be just a windbag before them.

George W. Cox decorated the tables with flowers from his garden, and furnished tomatoes and peas for the meal.

Dr. J. A. Hill introduced two new members, Dr. Ples Harper and Dr. James Russell, both new members of the faculty.

Visitors were: Van H. Allm, Forrest Barnes, J. E. Bowman, Tom Cartwright, B. C. Elliott, Arch Hunsley, H. C. Vincent, all of Amarillo; Jack A. Schley of Dallas.

Farm Bureau Is Opposed to Release Tax on Farm Gas

J. Walter Hammond, president of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation, Friday came to the defense of the farmers of Texas by taking issue with Senator G. C. Morris of Greenville who was quoted in the press as advocating taxing of tractor gasoline to raise revenue for road building purposes when he appeared before the Texas Government Institute in session at Waco.

Ired over the Senator's statement that "farmers would relinquish their return on gasoline taxes if they were told that the money would be used to their betterment," the Farm Bureau president declared that farmers were becoming leary of "being told" by outside interests what is to their betterment and then being handed the bill to pay for it by being singled out for a special tax.

"It will not be a simple matter to tell farmers that it will be to their betterment to tax tractor gasoline," he said. "It is becoming a rather monotonous story with always the same ending—the farmer pays for building other highways while he stays in the mud. Farmers were told that Texas would receive thirty million dollars of the federal appropriation to build farm-to-market roads, but in the final analysis the thirty million dollars will go for the expansion of the Texas highway system."

For years the farmers and ranchers of Texas have dutifully paid four cents a gallon gasoline tax, which is collected to build roads, while they continue to propel their farm vehicles over muddy roads, and to what purpose? To build hard-surfaced roads over which the fly-by-night oil, gas and sulphur interests of the industrial Northeast haul out our natural resources, draining the state of its wealth, while only a punitive tax is derived from natural resources.

The press quoted Senator Morris as stating that the legislature should have the courage to raise road-building revenue. In a discussion period the Senator said he was willing to tax export gasoline and oil, but saw other means of getting the money, and reverted to the line of least resistance by suggesting taxation on tractor gasoline.

The state of Texas is rich in natural resources and this is one of the most potential sources for revenue. "The legislature constantly lacks the courage to place a justified tax on natural resources," Hammond declared, "yet year after year it has the affrontery to attempt imposition of a special tax burden on the farmer—which has no justification—by considering bills to tax gasoline used in non-highway motors."

LUCIUS STEEMS stretched his frail spindly frame on the porch swing and sighed heavily. He was tired of being picked on. His wife, his employer — oh, especially his employer! — his fellow workers, bus drivers — they all dished it out to him. Lucius knew why, too. He was a weak-kneed sissy — and looked and acted it.

He didn't even have enough gumption to order his youngest, Johnny, and that Rodney kid from down the street to take their argument elsewhere. They were around the side of the house, noisily squabbling, ably abetted by their yelping dogs. Lucius wanted a little peace and quiet before returning to the office for the afternoon.

Mr. Ralston had called him down in front of the whole office again that morning simply because he had posted the right sums in the wrong ledger. Mr. Ralston had a peculiar way of bawling out people. He smiled and uttered wisecracks — but he wasn't kidding.

"Steems, you funny-looking little twerp," Mr. Ralston said, banging the ledger down on Lucius's desk. "I ought to make you eat this!" And after Mr. Ralston had wisecracked Lucius into red-faced humiliation, the big, bluff owner of Ralston's Pickle Works stalked away and left his billing clerk to writhe under the smirks and winks of the other employees.

Slowly Lucius rocked the swing, blinking his watery blue eyes. If he were only half a man — he sighed again, and dozed off.

"What a laugh!" The sharp words made Lucius's eyes pop open. It was that Rodney kid. "That funny-looking little shrimp couldn't lick a flea!"

"Say that again!" That was Johnny, and the vigor with which the youngster snapped out the challenge made Lucius's heart bump. Could — could it be that he had a champion after all? "You just say that again and I'll show you who can lick who!"

"I said he's a funny-looking little shrimp and can't lick a—owl!"

The brawl was on, and Lucius peered over the swing in time to see Johnny pursuing the Rodney kid down the street, both bellowing at the top of their lungs. Lucius bounded to his feet. By George, this was just what he needed — a champion, someone to back him up! He'd had no idea little Johnny would take up so fiercely for him. That put the old starch in the backbone, all right.

Lucius felt like a new man — a whole one. He paraded across the porch, jerked the screen door open and snatched his old felt hat from the hook. "Doris!" he cried in a sort of scratched roar. "Doris, I'll be home at five-thirty and I want supper on the table." He had read that in a book once, and it sounded swell. "Hear me? Five-thirty!"

Mrs. Steems thrust her head around the living room doorway in amazement. "Are you talking to—" "To you," Lucius said, suddenly so angry that he trembled. He had to justify Johnny's faith. "I'm tired of being treated like a hired man. Five-thirty — and don't forget it!"

Lucius tingled with triumph. But what if he were still asleep in the swing? He pinched himself and it hurt — and he was glad. His confidence swelled as he rode downtown, and by the time he reached the office he was nearly bursting with the new spirit he had found through Johnny.

He went directly to Mr. Ralston's office. "Mr. Ralston," he said politely but positively, "You've got to stop insulting me before the whole office. I make mistakes — everyone here does. But I work hard, to, and not everyone here does that. If you don't like my work, get rid of me. But," and here Lucius shook his finger at ogle-eyed Mr. Ralston, "I won't take any more insults from anyone."

He stood back, waiting for his employer to say something — and Lucius really didn't give two whoops what it was. But it was good. "Steems," Mr. Ralston said finally, "It's about time you showed some spirit. I deserved that calling down — and I'll raise you 25 bucks a month just to show you there's no hard feeling."

"Yes, sir," Lucius went back to his desk. But, before he sat down, he elaborated on his little speech to his fellow workers. And no one talked back or even smirked.

It was a wonderful day, the happiest for Lucius in a long, long time. And he knew he owed it all to his Johnny. So perhaps it is just as well he never learned of the conversation between his wife and Johnny after he came home that afternoon. Never demonstrative in his affection, he simply patted the boy on the head, noted that supper was on the table and went upstairs to wash.

"Johnny," Mrs. Steems whispered anxiously, "Johnny, what's happened to your father all of a sudden? Do you know what's got into him?"

"Huh? Dad? Shucks, he seems the same to me," Johnny said lightly. "He's O. K., isn't he? Say, Ma," he added indignantly, "you know what the Rodney kid said to me today? He said my dog was a funny-looking little shrimp that couldn't lick a flea. Boy, did I paste him!"

The ordinary cigarette is two and three-fourth inches long.

Tech Has Best Record With the Buffalo Team

Saturday's meeting in Lubbock between the Buffaloes of West Texas State and the Red Raiders of Texas Tech marks the eleventh renewal of this Panhandle classic inaugurated in 1925.

Leading the Buffaloes is fiery "Windy" Nicklaus, head coach. Nicklaus is a former Red Raider. He has the distinction of being the first football captain of a Red Raider team. As Nicklaus puts his Buffs through lengthy, hard workouts, the days of his Joe College exploits for Tech are forgotten. He is determined to garner a victory for his Buffaloes over the Red Raiders in this, his first year as Head Coach for the Buffs.

The first meeting between Tech and West Texas State was unceremoniously held in 1925. Tech was the victor, 13 to 12. In 1926, the Buffs could do no better than score a safety as they lost 7 to 2.

The third time proved a charm for the Buffs as they met the Red Raiders in 1927. The Buffs won 12 to 9. In 1928, Tech resumed their winning ways 18 to 0.

The year 1929 is remembered for things other than economic chaos by people in the Panhandle. It was in this year that West Texas won a decisive victory over the red shirted lads from Lubbock 20 to 0.

With the sweet dregs of victory still stimulating the Buffs, they shut out the Red Raiders for the second straight time in 1930, 6 to 0.

The Buffs' 1931 opener was lost to Tech 21 to 0. Athletic relations between the two schools were severed that year.

The Panhandle's football classic lay dormant for ten years. Admittance of West Texas State and Texas Tech into the Border Conference in 1941 necessitated the renewal of athletic relations between the Panhandle's two major colleges. In 1942, West Texas opened their season with a conference game against Tech. Tech won 30 to 0.

West Texas did not field a gridiron eleven in 1943. Resuming football in 1944, the Buffaloes tangled with the Red Raiders for the tenth time and lost 35 to 6. Last year the Red Raiders eked out a 12 to 6 victory over the Buffaloes.

Over the 20 year span of collegiate football competition with Tech, West Texas State has won 3 games and Lost 7.

NO SYMPATHY

An officious and unpopular A. R. P. official was putting the stretcher-bearer party through its paces. He lay on the ground and said, "Now, remember, I'm completely smashed up. Every bone in my body is broken. Now let's see how you pick me up."

The stretcher-bearers picked him up efficiently, laid him on the stretcher and asked, "Well, was that satisfactory?"

"Yes, it was all right," snapped the officious one, "only you didn't have the look of regret in your eyes I expected."

Some fellows never allow you to reach for the check. They hand it to you.

War on Cancer Gets New Urge

German Secret Microscope Offers Another Attack On Dread Disease.

COLUMBUS, OHIO.—Hopes of a new attack on cancer are given Veterans' administration doctors in the discovery of a 10-year-old Nazi secret in bomb-wrecked laboratories in Jena, Germany, says the United Press.

The secret was a little-known German "phase" microscope that was found among the ruins by an American army colonel, Arthur T. Brice. Brice, former V.A. medical technical expert, brought the microscope back to this country along with motion-picture films of cell growth taken through the instrument.

V.A. officials here explained that the motion picture was significant because it showed the mysterious processes of the microscopic world of living cells "better than ever before" in medical history.

The instrument gives scientists their first clear view of how living cells subdivide and multiply.

Cells Multiply. The chief characteristic of cancer cells is their unbridled multiplication, officials explained. The cells themselves and their pattern, or life, are different from normal body cells as far as anyone yet has been able to prove, they said.

If some fundamental difference could be proven between the life processes of cancer cells and other cells, they said, "a new method of attack on cancer might eventually result."

The living substance that Colonel Brice presented in motion pictures consisted of the sperm cells of a grasshopper. Their life was recorded on 16 mm. film.

Time was telescoped so that the evolution of 24 hours was flashed on the screen in a matter of minutes.

The "phase microscope" involves the complicated field of light waves.

Overlaps Light Rays. The instrument overlaps light waves to defeat transparency without in any way interfering with the normal aspects of the object viewed.

It looks like an ordinary microscope except that between the light bulb and the stage on which the specimens are placed there is inserted an arrangement of discs and slits that overlaps the light rays.

Before the Nazi instrument was uncovered scientists had been able to study cells microscopically only by employing color to overcome transparency.

But this stain often killed the cell and always left a question of how much it affected their normal processes, officials explained.

POLITICAL CONFUSER

Recently, while rifling the wastebasket of the Congressional Committee on Disposition of Useless Papers, I discovered a copy of "The Eclectics of Elemental Political Relativity" by Dr. Etaoin Shrdlu, published by the Cleveland Press (456% pp. $2 8s or 100 trillion pennos, fob Detroit).

Dr. Shrdlu points out everything is relative. People are relative. You are your mother-in-law's son-in-law or, possibly, daughter-in-law. Politics is, or are, relative. A left winger is a right winger to a red. A pink is a red to a middle roader. As a general guide, Dr. Shrdlu offers these definitions:

Reactionary—a man who doesn't believe anything that has happened since the McKinley administration.

A right winger—a man who takes his shoes off before going wading.

A conservative—a Communist with a job.

A middle roader—a man who follows the line of least conspicuousness.

A liberal—a man with his head in the clouds and his ears to the ground.

A radical—sees no difference between changes and progress.

A pink—turns yellow in sunlight.

A red—turns green when he sees gold.

A Communist—his theme song is "Your dime is my dime."

A nihilist—believes in nothing, and acts according to his convictions.—Pope Haley.

Hall of State Seeks County Histories

DALLAS—The Texana Reference Library in the Hall of State, Dallas, wants materials on the History of Randall County, and officials of Dallas Historical Society are appealing to citizens of the county to help locate the needed items.

"Copies of these books and pamphlets are in the hands of pioneer citizens and their descendants," Director Herbert Gambrell said, "but they are not to be found in bookstores. Placing them in this great shrine of Texas History for the use of the public, will not only be a permanent memorial to the donors, but a genuine service to those seeking accurate information about the county."

Information regarding available county materials should be addressed to the Director, Hall of State, Fair Park, Dallas 1.

Biographical directories, booklets on the histories of towns, churches, schools and other institutions, are also desired for the library, along with histories of the county itself. Special anniversary numbers of county newspaper are also wanted.

A special museum display of Texas County Histories is planned for the Hall of State during the State Fair of Texas in October. The Hall of State occupies the center of the Fair Park, and will be open daily, free of charge, to visitors.

While perhaps people (if they think of me at all) think of me as a writer of humor, as a matter of fact, my first two books were of a serious nature—and not particularly successful, from a sales standpoint.

The first was "Where You in Ranger?" an account of the great oil rush of 1918-20, which began with the McCleskey gusher and transformed Ranger, Eastland, Cisco and Breckenridge from villages into cities almost overnight. Ten years spent in Eastland County in editing newspapers gave opportunity for gathering material that went into this book, which sold about 3,600 copies, which is not bad for a "first book," but not particularly good, either. Incidentally, "Where You in Ranger?" is out-of-print and dealers ask $6 a copy (the original price was $1.50).

Next book was "Oil Boom," an account of six Southwestern oil rushes — Spindletop, Ranger, Desdemona, Burkburnett, Smackover (Arkansas) and Mexia. Two of the chapters appeared in the Saturday Evening Post, before the book came out. "Oil Boom," received a fair amount of attention from some of the national critics and received an award or two—but sold fewer copies than "Where You in Ranger?"

For a long time, just as a hobby, I had been gathering Texas jokes and, just for the fun of it, sat down and dashed off 500 of them. Half a dozen publishing houses in the north and East turned the manuscript down. Finally, Joe Naylor of San Antonio brought it out—and the two most surprised men in Texas were the publisher and the author when folks began buying it: About 115,000 copies have been sold.

Then came "Tall Talk from Texas" (70,000 copies) and "Texas—Proud and Loud" (35,000 copies). Really, the humor books were just a sort of sideline or by-product—and they happened to catch the fancy of the public. My next book? It will be out soon; it's called "Cowtown Columnist"—and there's not a joke in it!

And will someone please explain why, a year and a half after the war, we still have a sugar shortage? Is John L. Lewis to blame for that, too?

IT PUZZLED HIM

An Englishman, visiting in this country borrowed an automobile from an American friend and was setting out with considerable trepidation to tour the countryside.

Scrupulously observing all of the roadside admonitions, he presently came to one reading, "Drive carefully! This Means YOU!"

"Right!" said our British cousin, slowing down to a conservative 20 miles. "But I say," he mused, "how do you suppose they knew I was over here?"

We were a firm believer in signs until we read one that said "Drink Canada Dry." That's impossible!

WHY ARE WHEATLAND PLOWS

THE MOST POPULAR?

Even the women folks prefer MM Wheatland Disc Plows because there's no criticism of the job done. They simply do the job just right.

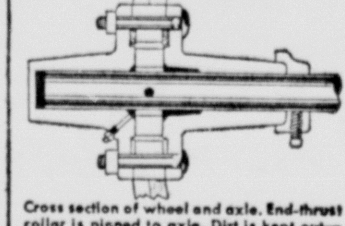

There is an MM Wheatland to enable you to cut the cost of preparing your seed bed as much as 50% over ordinary methods. 26 inch discs and 10 inch spacing between discs give it wide cut and light draft.

Plows and Discs IN ONE OPERATION—yet very light in draft—seeder or drill attachment available. • Mixes stubble and vines thoroughly with the soil—plows from 3 to 9 inches deep. • Helps prevent air pockets and soil blowing. • Can be used to build terraces the economical way.

Although the degree of concavity is about the same as in ordinary 20 inch discs, the depth of concavity is 4 inches as compared to only 2 1/2 inches. As a result MM Wheatland Plows turn the soil much better. Extra large discs mean less wear on the disc bearings as discs make fewer revolutions per mile. Discs are specially heat-treated steel, highly polished to scour better. RIGID FRAME. This frame is now famous as the one that won't "twist", "wear", or "give"—thanks to its BRIDGE TRUSSED construction and the extra-heavy-duty casting and steel plates that connect the heavy axles to the rigid frame. Head end powerlift models—See your MM dealer for sizes and when available—they're worth waiting for.

Disc bearings are self-lubricating—take no end-thrust.

Cross section of wheel and axle. End-thrust roller is pinned to axle. Dirt is kept out—grease in.

Special "ocean liner type" end-thrust bearing assembly takes all end-thrust.

Capital No Place For Hubby Hunters

Better Chance in Own Back Yard, Says Expert.

WASHINGTON. — Don't come to Washington, girls, if you want to get married.

Ray H. Everett, executive secretary of the district's Social Hygiene society, says you stand a better chance of finding those dreamed-of orange blossoms in your own backyard.

If you must leave home go where the men are—some industrial center such as Atlanta, Flint, Erie or Bridgeport, Conn., Everett advises.

"Washington may be the glamorous capital of the world, but it's slim matrimonial pickings for the girl from the four corners," he says.

He estimates there are about four marriageable women here for every marriageable man, making the nation's capital just about the poorest matrimonial mart in the country.

But because Miss Hopefuls persist in coming to Washington, Everett is continuously giving advice and lectures on how to land a man here.

Most of his clients are government girls. Some are sent to him by government agencies.

Others attend his lectures in government dormitory buildings, such as the vast Arlington Farms, or in other meeting halls.

The lantern-jawed Everett talks to them in a language as modern as jive. He draws on his experience as a former sociology professor at George Washington university and as a happily married husband who hasn't forgotten a wedding anniversary in 23 years.

He tells them that secretaries have the best chances of marrying. Next come the women in theatrical work, with stenographers third.

Good grooming goes farther and lasts longer than good looks, he advises. He stresses the importance of developing many interests.

Here, he explains, is a way to meet men: Go in for athletic games, take part in amateur theatricals, become a good dancer and vacation where there are some men to spare.

3 Days Late, Light Keeper Never Missed

CHARLEVOIX, MICH.—A light-house keeper whose absence was unnoticed for three days while he drifted helplessly in a crippled motor launch on Lake Michigan was rescued little the worse for wear.

Daniel A. Buckus returned to his duties as light tender at Ile Aux Galets after he was picked up off the southeast tip of Beaver island, 15 miles from here, by coastguardsmen.

Other crewmen at Ile Aux Galets did not become alarmed at Buckus' failure to return from shore leave, supposing he had stayed on the mainland because of a light fog.

Buckus, however, had set out and became stranded just outside of steamer lanes when his motor failed.

Money Showers Oregon Town; Starts Buying

GARIBALDI, ORE.—Manna from heaven, or in 20th century terms, "clover from the clouds," was causing a minor buying spree in this little Oregon coast town recently. Dollar bills fluttered from the sky here, shortly after an airplane had flown over the tiny fishing community.

The dollar bills sprinkled down over fishing boats, homes and business houses. Tom Hess, commercial fisherman, had $16 by the time the flurry ended. Some of the fortune sank beneath the waters of Garibaldi bay, but eager harvesters gained a little pocket money before the "windfall" disappeared.

No flying banks were reported operating in Oregon, but the fishing folk here would just as soon their benefactor flew over again.

1,800 Pets of All Kinds Are Buried in 'Cemetery'

MIAMITOWN, OHIO.—More than 1,800 pets of all kinds are buried in the Mount Hope Pet cemetery three miles northwest of Miami town, near Cincinnati.

The cemetery was opened 12 years ago by Dr. George R. Agin, a veterinarian, and his wife, Alice.

More and more animal lovers are finding a special solace in placing their pets in a permanent resting place in this unique cemetery.

The greater number of the more than 1,800 pets buried in the seven and one-half acres devoted to the burial ground are dogs, with cats second. But other pets buried there include one pony, one parrot, and numerous canaries.

Tourist Wants to Know When Geysers Will Erupt

CODY, WYO.—Secretary Marlin Kurtz of the Cody Club reports happily that the tourists' questions about nearby Yellowstone National park are returning to prewar norms. An Arizona woman wrote recently asking for a schedule on geyser eruptions and Kurtz replied that except for "Old Faithful," it was strictly a case of "pay your money and take your chances."

Wonder why they always put 'pull' on the city hall doors?

Scarlet Fever on Increase Over the State Reported

The State Department of Health has just issued a warning in regard to scarlet fever, as the number of cases usually increases during the fall months. The majority of deaths from this disease occur from October through February.

Scarlet fever is a very contagious and serious disease. Grown people may contract it, but children under 15 years are especially apt to have it, if exposed. It is especially dangerous for children under 5 years, and Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, warns mothers to "not let your children take any chances with scarlet fever. Call the doctor as soon as the first symptoms appear."

If your child has contracted scarlet fever, the first signs you may notice are that he seems tired, restless and out of sorts. Usually, there is a sore throat, chills, vomiting, or convulsions and fever. His skin is dry and hot. His tongue is furred, and, under this white covering, it is red and swollen. In ordinary cases, these early signs are followed in a day or two by a rash. Little flat red points, close together, appear first on the neck and chest and soon the rash, very red in color, spreads over most of the body.

The doctor is required by law to report the case to the local health officer. Do your part by following carefully the quarantine instructions which the health officer will give you, since a severe or fatal case of scarlet fever may develop from contact with some one who has only a slight attack. Children who have had scarlet fever, or who have been exposed, must not return to school until permission is given by the health officer and physician.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Thirty-seven boys and girls and the staff of the Presbyterian Home for Children in Amarillo will be the guest of the local Presbyterian Church on Sunday. They will attend Sunday school and church and then be dinner guests in the homes of the members. In the afternoon they will visit Palo Duro Canyon and probably have a watermelon feast. Mrs. E. J. Cundiff, chairman of the Cabinet, is in charge of the social arrangements. The pastor, Rev. Robert W. Jones, will preach on Sunday morning on "God's Eternal Purpose of Redemption."

Sunday, September 29, will be Rally Day in the Sunday School and church. The theme this year is "The Radiant Cross and Christian Responsibility."

Next thing we know Eleanor will be conducting a safe-driving crusade.

Thank Goodness! NOW I HAVE ELECTRICITY IN MY HOME

It's a great day when the last wire is in place and you can flick a switch and have electricity at your command.

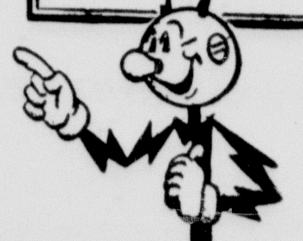

It has taken time to bring the wonders and advantages of electricity to folks in this great area.

But today, in a major part of our 12 million dollar expansion program, we're stretching our rural power lines to reach more and more farms and ranches.

Folks in those homes have been waiting a long time for low cost electricity, and many of them can look forward to better living electrically.

A pioneer in building ahead for the future, we're proud that in our 22nd year we can bring low cost electric power to so many more of you.

A PIONEER IN BUILDING AHEAD FOR THE FUTURE

A REPORT on telephone progress in Texas

The first postwar year was the busiest year we've ever known, filled with work to give telephone service to those who are waiting and to improve service for everyone.

We have put in 240,000 telephones in Texas—nearly twice as many as in any prewar year. We are handling more calls per telephone now than in the rushed days of the war. And even this record-breaking performance has not been enough.

But we're glad to say we've been able to take care of most customers whose applications were held up by lack of facilities on V-J Day—and in most places, most of the time, service is fast and good. Operators are answering 9 out of 10 calls within 10 seconds.

Demand Up

On the other hand, more people than ever are applying for telephones—24,000 a month for the last six months. Prewar months averaged 11,000. Thus, as we go ahead on one front, there are increasing demands on another.

We want all those waiting for telephone service to know we are doing our best to get it to them. It is just as much an emergency to us as a hurricane—but this is country-wide.

Bell System factories today are working around the clock, three shifts a day. And—despite scarcities—are even breaking some records set in boom days years ago.

In Texas we're putting the new equipment to work as fast as we get it, and putting up new buildings to house it when necessary.

People Are Telephoning More

This first postwar year has also brought an extraordinary increase in telephone use. Local calls are now 7½ million a day in Texas—nearly 1½ million a day over last year. That rise would have taken several years in normal times. Toll and long distance calls are also at all-time highs.

We have increased our forces to handle your rising telephone needs. Now we have 48,000 employees in the Southwest—more than ever before. This is an increase of 11,000 since the war ended. About 6,000 are returned veterans.

It will take a great deal of money and some time to do all the things we have planned for your telephone service, but our 250-million-dollar 5-year expansion program in the Southwest is well under way. During the first postwar year alone we spent about 50 million dollars providing telephone equipment.

It all adds up to our desire to serve well everyone who uses the telephone. And to do it always with courtesy and understanding.

Fatherly Perception

By MARGARET ELSOM

WE HAD been married about ten months when I said to Marie: "Darling, how much do you think we could scrape up to buy a car—just a cheap one, any kind just so long as it goes?"

Marie was washing the supper dishes at the time, and me—well I was drying them for her.

Here we are, working on a fruit farm, 50 miles away from our nearest relative, and six miles from the nearest town. Once a week we managed to get into town with Mr. Kayes (my boss). But when a man expects to become a father in two months' time he wants to make certain he has a definite way of getting to the hospital ahead of the stork.

Marie sighed a little. "Yes, things sometimes happen before schedule. I think we could manage a cheap car, say around $200."

There had been an ad running in the paper along these lines: "For sale, Model A, good running order, five good tires, motor recently overhauled. Ceiling price; Phone 264." Marie agreed it might do.

I threw the paper aside and went over to the telephone.

"Yup, this here's the place, Mister—car ain't sold as yet, she ain't, but she's likely right smart goin' to be. You don't see bargains a-carburatin' under your nose like this every day; no sir. She won't be settin' here long, no she won't, so you want to grab her right quick."

"How much?" I asked.

"Two and a half as she stands—right ready to exilerate down the home stretch—yes sir," he said.

We are working on a fruit farm . . . Gee, but I love her!

It happened that the owner of the car was a very old gentleman who thought that his rheumatism wouldn't let his leg move fast enough to "break" her when she needed it. He was slightly stubborn over the $50, but I won out. In half an hour I was riding down the front street, proud as any expectant father. I felt I had obeyed my "premonition" to get a conveyance—and my heart sang. So excited was I that I pulled her over to the curb and went into the corner drug store to phone Marie.

"Darling," I said, "we are the owner of a $200 automobile—and it runs." She sounded excited, "What's the matter—you're all right, are you?" I asked breathlessly.

"Oh, yes, dear," she said, "but hurry home—it's happened."

My heart ceased to beat and the blood went all black for just a moment, but, pulling myself together, as an expectant father should, I told her to get right into bed. I would be home immediately. It had happened—and her all alone, and—and at the telephone! Why it was impossible. But she said it had happened. Oh, the poor darling.

I jumped into the car and raced around to Dr. Gillet's. He was just changing a tire in his garage. I streaked across the lawn and pulled him toward my humble car, explaining what had happened. "I'll take you out, doctor—I'll take you out—never mind your flat tire—I'll run you out to Marie right away."

"But—but my dear man," he said, "let me at least get my bag."

He rushed to the house, coming out again in two seconds flat. Jumping in the car, he asked, "Did you say she answered the phone?"

"Yes, doctor, yes—yes and I told her to get right back into bed, I'd be right out."

"Incredible," he mumbled, "incredible."

"Will that hurt her?" I pleaded.

"Will that hurt her?"

"Incredible?" I said. And still don't know why the doctor grinned. Well, the old car snorted up the hills, and back-fired down them. Leaning heavy 'round the bends she ticked off the six miles quick. A cow got in the way once. I pressed the horn button, and it went "B-r-r-p-p" and unthinkingly I said "Excuse me."

Looking back, on that evening, I sure feel like the fool that I was. As long as I live, I'll never forget the scene when we opened the door.

There was Marie on her hands and knees, over a cardboard carton which held Donald and five newly born kittens!

I had to wait six more weeks before I became a father!

There is a slight difference in the length of every person's legs.

A farmer, after imbibing a prodigious quantity of moonshine whiskey, attempted to blow out a candle, whereupon his alcohol-saturated breath burst into flame. Shaken by the experience, the man begged his wife to bring him the family Bible, muttering, "I gotta swear off." Placing his hand upon it, the farmer intoned: "Before heaven, I swear that never again will I blow on a lighted candle."

The wife may not be quick on the trigger, but she sure is fast on the draw at the bank.
